

The Index Card Tower Challenge

Students in Mrs. Bonnell's class earned a cool STEM experiment today. The Index Card Tower Challenge encouraged students to build a tower using 25 index cards and tape that would hold a bottle of hand sanitizer without collapsing.

Working together, the groups came up with a plan and then began to build!!

In the end, each group came up with a unique design, and all students were successful!

