EXPLORA VISION

Toshiba/NSTA ExploraVision is a national STEM competition that challenges the students to look 20 years into the future. The students researched current technology and imagined what it would be in 20 years. The students put a lot of hard work during STEM for this project. We submitted 33 projects from grades 3rd-5th. This year we are honored to have 3 teams achieve national honorable mention in the contest. This means that their projects were the Top 10% in the Nation and I was also able to be named a Top 27 coach for the eligible projects submitted. Each students project that was submitted will receive an entry prize and certificate.

GET TO KNOW YOUR OSS FAMILY

KINDERGARTEN

This week in Kindergarten we went on a leprechaun hunt, learned about the Irish holiday, how to create rainbows with fats and sugars, how plants take root and graphed the different marshmallows in Lucky Charms!. We also had a wonderful time explaining how our traps worked and then voted on the trap that we felt that would work the best.

We had a great time writing about what new type of marshmallow should be added to Lucky Charms! We described it size, color, taste and shape and then the class voted on which marshmallow should be in the next box of cereal!

FIRST GRADE

Ms. Molnar's class is working on sequence of events in ELA this week. We wrapped up our chapter on double digits in math and are ready for our spring break!

Mrs. Beckman's class read the non-fiction story "What Can You Do?" about finding things we are good at! We also practiced adding -er and -est to words ending in "y". In math we continued our work on graphing and introduced the tally chart. Thank you all for a wonderful third quarter and have a SUPER spring break!

SECOND GRADE

This week second grade students have been working hard creating fantastic habitat and animal research projects. Each classroom has a special habitat theme, and students are looking forward to decorating the classrooms with all of our hard work!

Remember our SeaWorld field trip forms and payment is due no later than April 1st.

THIRD GRADE

Mrs. Sokoloff's class is doing research on national parks and influential woman.

Mrs. Anderson's friends volunteered with Clean the World to show good citizenship in our community!

FOURTH GRADE

FIFTH GRADE

Ms. Berray and Ms. Jensen's classes presented biography project in which they created speeches and dressed like a person important to American History.

5th grade celebrated Pi Day during their STEM Day this Thursday. They had an opportunity to eat pie, explore pi, build a bridge from pennies, and use Quiver to make their coloring come 3D.

SIXTH GRADE

Guest Speaker: World History- Ms. Kish group

Some classes had the pleasure of welcoming Mr. Daniel Keel, 96 years old, WW2 survivor and one of the remaining Tuskegee Airman! Mr. Keel has been awarded the Congressional Gold Medal in 2007 by President George W. Bush and also met President Obama. In addition, Mr. Keel has been the subject of two books. He shared personal stories of racism in the military in the 1940s and explained to the students the importance of diversity, staying in school, studying hard, and procuring a good education. The students were apart of “living history” as Mr. Keel watched a brainpop.com video of the Tuskegee Airman! Ms. Kish said, “It was surreal to watch Mr. Keel watch his life through that lens, a true honor.” *Thank you to Prince-Howard and his mother for organizing the visit.

Ms. Kish- Art Elective and History classes- Student made mandalas- “circle” in Sanskrit in celebration of Ancient India and homemade kites, using recyclable materials, after studying Ancient China. Twelve students’ independent projects will be showcased in the Winter Park Art Show this weekend. Paintings of Buddha and Indian Gods: Vishnu and Ganesha, and 3D replicas (made from clay, cardboard, paper, styrofoam) of ancient buildings and Gods will be on display.
